Napa Technology Introduces WineStation® Intelligent Dispensing System to Maximize Wine Revenues and Profits.

SANTA CLARA, Calif., (March 21, 2007) – Napa Technology launched WineStation® Intelligent Dispensing System at the 2007 Golf Industry Show and the 2007 Las Vegas Nightclub & Bar Expo earlier this month.

WineStation is the world's first stylish automated measured dispensing and preservation solution which combines business intelligence, ease of installation and use, simplicity of maintenance and a patent pending hygienic Clean-Pour™ dispensing technology into a family of appliances.

WineStation has been specifically designed for bar and restaurant operations to increase revenues, control costs and maximize profits in serving wines by the glass and bottle.

With availability scheduled for May 1, 2007, WineStation addresses the needs of the hospitality industry to eliminate the problems of; unaccounted charges, wine spoilage, over-pouring and missed-pricing associated with serving wines by the glass.

Additionally, WineStation has been conceived to drive new revenues from the sale of higher priced wines and paired food and wine menu specials.

The Clean-Pour System's dispensing head assures the taste that the wine maker intended the first time, every time through its exclusive hygienic pouring feature that preserves a wine's taste, bouquet, and complexity for 60 days or more.

In addition, each WineStation comes complete with the AccuServe™ management suite.

This intelligent dispensing software puts users in control of what wines are served, pouring volume & price designation, management reporting and smart card issuance for staff and customer use.
